Bristol Township Board Signs Levitt School Lease

Let It Pour

Bristol Township School Board last night put conditional approval on the lease agreement authorizing Levitt & Sons to build two elementary schools in Levittown, it was announced today by School Board Solicitor John P. Betz, Jr.

"The lease was signed," the attorney said, "subject to the school board's approval of plans and specifications, and to the state department's approval of plans, specifications and the lease."

The state has already approved the plans, Betz said, "but not in detail."

To Be Adopted
President J. Russel Straub, of the school board, said the lease will be finally adopted at the board's annual meeting Monday night, if required state and local approval comes in time. He described last night's get-together as an "informal meeting." We reviewed the lease last night to save a lot of time for other business we have Monday," Straub said.

The document is an agreement directing the Levittown Educational Foundation, a non-profit corporation headed by William J. Levitt, to lease the two schools to Bristol Township School Board 20 years, each for $38,000 a year. Levitt & Sons, the firm building Levittown, is to build the schools, and last week started work on concrete foundations for one in Red Cedar Hill section, anticipating the approval.

20 Year Plan
The educational foundation will dissolve in 20 years, leaving the schools the property of the township school board. Straub said completion of both schools is hoped by September 1954. Completion will not end double sessions, however, he said. "We expect the schools to be packed right away," he said. "They won't stop double sessions because new families are moving to Levittown too fast."

Each school, he said, will have 20 classrooms, a multi-purpose room and cafeteria space. According to a Levitt official, they will be of block construction with brick siding, each classroom 22 by 44 feet with its own lavatory. The floors will be asphalt tiles on concrete slabs.

Boehm Sets Dec. 9 For School Talks On Union District

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 1 — Dr. Charles H. Boehm, county superintendent of schools, has set Dec. 9 for a meeting with the educational committee of the Levittown Civic Association to explore a proposed union school district for Levittown. The school district idea was first mentioned by President Judge Hiram H. Keller some weeks ago in an order in which he rejected a petition calling for alteration of boundaries of Falls and Bristol Townships and Tullytown Borough. Presumably the union school district would clear up situations such as those wherein school children living within short distances of school facilities of adjoining communities must go to more distant facilities on their side of the boundaryline.

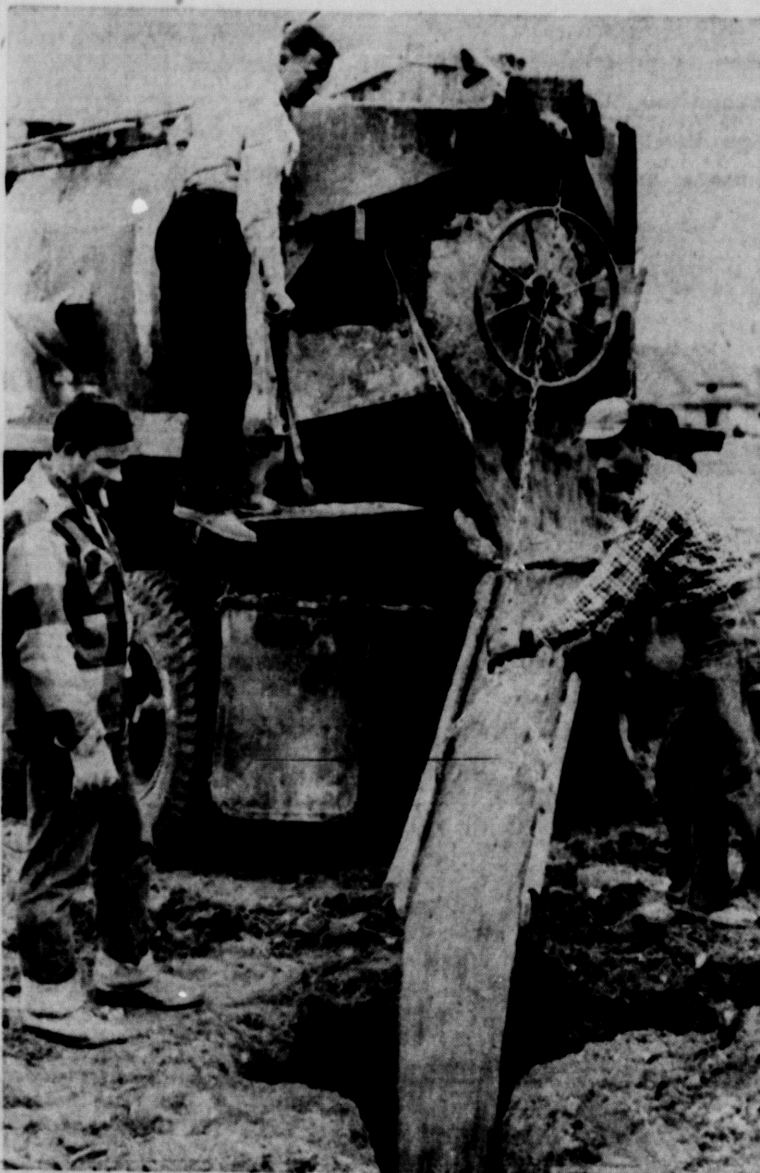

"I don't look for any immediate solution," Dr. Boehm stated. "It seems to be a matter for the State Department of Public Instruction."

FALLS BOARD MEETS
Falls Township Board of Supervisors will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the township building.

SCHOOL FOUNDATION is shown being poured as Levitt & Sons construction of two schools for Bristol Township get under way before the School Board members signed a lease for the schools. Levitt's gamble turned out good when school directors signed the lease last night. Workmen are pouring concrete for a foundation of the school which will go up on the former Bolton Farm, west of Levittown Parkway near Newportville-Fallington road in the Apple Tree section of Levittown.

HELP FORM POLICY

5 Associate Members Are Appointed To Falls Township School Board

Four men and one woman were appointed associate members of the Falls Township Board of Education last night by James P. Doheny, secretary of the Board. In the first action of its kind by a Pennsylvania school board, Doheny also named three alternate associates.

Associates appointed were Mrs. Margaret Bishop, of 214 Coventry road; Harry B. Waterbor, 248 Olds boulevard; and James B. Chalfant, 230 Wyandotte road, all of Fairless Hills, and Victor L. Roberts, of Burgess Manor, and Bradshaw Snipes, of Lincoln Highway.

Alternates named include Douglas W. Brown, 158 Bedford road, and Mrs. Mary Cox, 822 Edgemont road, both of Fairless Hills, and Mrs. Barbara L. Ferris, of 20 Birch drive, Levittown.

The associate members, or their alternates, will have authority to participate in discussion of school business, according to Doheny. He said the new appointees will also help form educational policy in the township. However, they will sit as non-voting members.

The eight appointments are in addition to 12 associate and seven regular members.

Plans Still Wait For Corporation On L'Town Pools

The proposed no-profit corporation to operate the Levittown playgrounds and pools is just in its preliminary steps, with no definite plans, a Levitt & Sons spokesman said today. The corporation was suggested as a method to put the facilities under responsible administration after the Levitt firm sells its last house in the new community, it was recently announced to officers of the Levittown Civic Association. The idea has met with enthusiasm from Mrs. Joseph R. Ratice, chairman of the LCA playground supervision committee. The committee's present concern, however, is finding volunteers to supervise the children in Brook and Magnolia Parks, she said. Parents will be recruited for the job tonight at a meeting in the Levittown Civic Center.

Bus Service Topic Is Discussed By Hills Civic Group

Bus service and road repairs were the principal topics of discussion at last night's meeting of the executive committee of the Fairless Hills Civic Association. Members set preliminary plans in motion seeking a solution to local bus service and repairs to Trenton road.

James P. Peers, president of the association, said that complaints were being voiced by residents of Fairless Hills on lack of bus service.

Stresses Need
"Inasmuch as Levittown has received temporary bus service by a ruling of the Public Utilities Commission, I cannot see why we cannot obtain similar service here in Fairless Hills," Peers said.

Mrs. William Messler, secretary of the association said that Representative Karl C. King replied to a query sent to him in regard to the lack of bus service in the community. Rep. King referred the matter to State Senator Edward B. Watson.

In his letter to the civic association, Congressman King said he could not take direct legislative action on the matter because it must first go through the Department of Commerce under interstate commerce statutes.

Mrs. Messler added that Senator Watson had not yet answered a letter seeking assistance.

For the moment, the Trenton-Philadelphia Coach Company passes through the western section of the community serving only 10 or 12 streets leaving the eastern section, comprising more than half of Fairless Hills, without service.

Letters sent out at the same time were directed to the Trenton-Philadelphia Coach Company, Nalbauer Bus Company, and the Falls Township Civic Association.

According to Mrs. Messler, John A. Collins, president of the Falls Township Civic Association, promised full cooperation in the association's fight for adequate local bus service.

Peers said that a formal complaint was slated to be presented tonight before the Falls Township Supervisors' meeting.

Also heavily discussed at the executive meeting was the problem of the mile and one-half stretch of Trenton road now torn up for repairs by the State Highway Department. Because of rebuilding operations on this part of the highway more than 100 families are presently isolated.

Although very little or no work has been done in the past two weeks, Peers said he hoped that some temporary work could be arranged to alleviate the hardships of families in that area.

Acquittal Brings Rebuke By Judge
DOYLESTOWN — James Gross, 1726 Maple avenue, Croydon, who was acquitted by a Quarter Sessions Court jury of two morals charges involving a 10-year-old girl, was reprimanded by Judge Edward H. Satterthwaite.

"This verdict of not guilty," said the Judge, gets you out of one charge and you were pretty fortunate on this one but if you are fooling around with small children, you had better watch your step."

Gross was charged with sodomy and indecent assault June 10 in the Green Lane section of Bristol township. "It was a troublesome case and the Court agrees with the jury's verdict," said Judge Satterthwaite.

Gross has another bill of indictment, burglary, larceny, receiving stolen goods and corrupting the morals of children, pending on the criminal court calendar.

Falls Civic Group To Hear Singers

Christmas choral music, motion pictures of the African wilds and a "Spotlight on Community Service" are on the agenda for the December meeting of the Falls Township Civic Association. The meeting will be held in the Fallington Free Library auditorium tomorrow at 8 p. m.

The music will be provided by the choral group of the Fairless Hills Women's Club, directed by Mrs. Ernest Hepler. Mrs. Harry Mikesell will be pianist. The chorus has 20 members, all residents of Fairless Hills.

"Al Minder," a members of the civic group, will show movies he filmed in Kruger National Park, in the wilds of Africa.

Safety Lesson

SIXTH GRADE pupils at Croydon school are working on a project that points out the danger of abandoned ice-boxes. Teacher Samuel Rubin and Paul Bellerby, 822 Tully street, Croydon, watch as Joyce Charlesworth, 911 Excelsior avenue, Croydon, demonstrates the danger, with a doll and a model of an ice box.

Hough To Send Out Call For Council of Community Groups

Officers of civic groups in Lower Bucks County communities, including Bristol township, Fergusonville and Falls and Middletown townships, will receive invitations this week from Edward Hough, president of the Levittown Civic Association, to form a joint representative council.

Hough said today he is proposing the council for "concerted action on problems affecting all or many of the communities." No date for the joint meeting was available from Hough or other spokesmen of the Levittown group.

Chief topics, Hough said, will be united action on road building and maintenance, health questions, public safety, civil defense and taxes. High on the agenda, he said, is discussion of an organizational structure for the new council.

Long Island Example
As the first to prompt such a move in this area, Hough pointed out that in Levittown, Long Island, four different civic associations united "with good results." On a recent visit by officials of Pennsylvania's Levittown Civic Association to Long Island, they found similar problems had been solved by joint effort.

"It is the belief of the board of directors of the Levittown Civic Association," Hough said, "that we should investigate the possibility of such joint action. Naturally, since we have not yet discussed it yet with the officials of nearby groups, it's impossible to say what form such an organization would take."

"As a matter of fact," he continued, "it is quite possible that for one reason or another we may not be able to establish such a group. But we do intend to get together with these people and discuss the entire situation and, we hope, get it worked out."

Postal Workers Out Tonight For Distrophy Funds

A group of 40 postal employees from the Bristol Post Office will go out between 7 and 9 o'clock tonight to collect money for the Muscular Distrophy Association. They will pick up envelopes distributed last week for money to fight the disease. They have asked residents to put the envelopes in their mail boxes and leave porch lights on.

The men will canvass Bristol borough and part of the township tonight. On Thursday night they will canvass all of Levittown.

Honorary chairman of the national drive is Arthur Summerfield, postmaster general. Local contributions, many of which have already been returned to carriers, will be sent to the Philadelphia office of the association.

ANNUAL SUPPER
Turkey dinners will be served Saturday from 4:30 to 7:30 p. m. at the parish house of the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation, Morrisville. The public is invited to the church's annual supper.

Cleaner Makes Refund Offer On Disputed Books

Goldwater Blames 'Mix-Up' in Sale of Bargain Coupons

Bertram H. Goldwater, owner and manager of Safety Cleaners, Bristol, said today he was made a "goat" in the sale of "Grand Opening Special" ticket books, on which police have received many complaints. He offered, however, to refund the $1 purchase price to each buyer or provide $2.50 in cleaning service. This would be half the amount promised in the books.

Levittown residents have complained to police of Falls and Bristol townships and Bristol borough that cleaning firm had not sent trucks to their homes for pick-ups in response to calls.

Chief Franklin Kirby, of Falls township police, said complaints come to his department at the rate of one a day, while Chief Linford J. Jones, of Bristol, said he had received complaints up through last week. In October, Police Chief John R. Stewart, of Bristol township, warned residents not to buy the books, but said the police could do nothing about books already sold.

Goldwater said ticket holders must take the clothing to his store, at Bath and Otter streets, as his drivers work on a contract basis and cannot accept the books. He said the mix-up resulted from an "unfortunate situation" in which a Philadelphia firm contracted to distribute the books in one section of Levittown and apparently took them to all sections of the community, as well as Bristol.

Goldwater said his firm received no money from the dollar paid for the coupon book. The proceeds, he said, paid for the distributor's service. The distribution was made while he was outside this area, Goldwater said, and an employee managed the cleaning firm. He said he had since fired the manager and took over operation of the business himself.

A director of the Bristol-Lower Bucks Chamber of Commerce was told by Goldwater that he will "make good" for the Levittowners' money, according to Secretary John W. Franks.

2 A. M. Blaze Calls Newtown Firemen

Newtown firemen were routed from their beds early today to put out a fire caused by a short circuit in an oil burner.

A fan motor on the oil burner, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Fisher, Eagle road, Woodhill, was short circuited. A cardboard rim on the heater caught fire, filling the house with smoke.

The Fishers discovered the fire when they came home shortly after 2 a. m. Fisher immediately turned off the oil line and the burner. The area behind the burner had caught fire, however.

Two engines from Newtown Fire Company answered the fire call. The Fishers were unable to estimate the amount of damage, this morning.

Bloodmobile Unit Is at Morrisville

The Rev. William T. Warren, Jr., chairman of the blood committee for the Morrisville Red Cross district, made an urgent request today for donors.

The bloodmobile unit will be set up today in the Episcopal Church parish from 2 to 7:30 p. m. A quota of 150 pints has been set for the district.

Mr. Warren said appointments may be made with him or Mrs. William Fielding, chairman of the Morrisville Red Cross district.

Any one unable to make an appointment may report to the parish house at any time during the specified hours, and they will be taken care of as soon as possible.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—(INS)—St. Louis authorities who questioned Carl Austin Hall about the missing $303,720 Greenleaf kidnapping ransom money refused today to disclose the contents of a statement the kidnaper signed following a four-hour long interrogation.

Dance Sponsored By Temple Shalom Club Is Success

The Thanksgiving Eve holiday dance, sponsored by the Men's Club of Temple Shalom, Reform Jewish Congregation of Levittown, held at the Edgely Fire House, was a tremendous social success. It attracted members, friends, neighbors and families from points as far as New York.

Dance music was furnished by the highly popular band of Joey Singer, famous for his Latin-American rhythms and fox trots. Dancing continued until 1 a. m.

During the course of the evening, dancing numbers were performed by Paul & Sheila, of the Penny Davis Dance Studios in Philadelphia. A dance contest was also held with the guests participating.

Another portion of the evening was devoted to a champagne hour, while still another went to one-half hour free momba and samba lessons. Refreshments were plentiful.

The success of the affair was attributed to the dance committee, under David S. Wisnia, chairman.

fast action on the problems which affect all the people in this area.

Seeks Quicker Action

"If we speak as representatives of a more sizeable group, it is probable that we will get action that much quicker."

He also said that he thought the activities of such groups, when meshed together, worked toward better long range results.

"There have been many occasions," he said, "when the material compiled by Ulrich Frank, LCA education chairman, has been valuable to other groups. A pooling of this and allied information is bound to be of value to this Lower Bucks County area."

Merritt Godshalk, pastor of Neshamony Methodist Church, Hulmeville, will conduct the service. Place of burial will be North Cedar Hill Cemetery, Philadelphia.

More Fatalities In Winter From Carbon Monoxide

HARRISBURG — State Secretary of Health, Dr. Russell E. Teague, today urged extra precautions against carbon monoxide poisoning.

State Health Department statistics show that the number of accidental deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning increases as the weather grows colder.

Deaths from this cause last year, 1952, totaled 97. There were 42 deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning from January through July of this year. During the heavy snow storm of last November 9, two men were found dead of the poisonous carbon monoxide gas when their car stalled in the drifted snow on Route 22 between Straoustown and Shartlesville.

"Careless ventilation practices at home and in garages account for the heavy toll taken by carbon monoxide," Dr. Teague said. "This tasteless and odorless gas is a product of the incomplete combustion of motor fuels and of any furnace or heater in which combustion takes place."

SUES STEEL COMPANY IN '52 AUTO CRASH

Anderson M. Carr of 414 Clymer avenue, Morrisville, filed a damage suit yesterday in Mercer County Court, Trenton, N. J., against the Keystone Structural Steel Company, Trenton, as the result of an automobile accident.

The suit also named Anthony Schnipps, driver of the company car which allegedly rammed into Carr's vehicle Sept. 5, 1952. Carr claimed that he suffered a broken wrist and stomach injuries as a result of the crash.

Women Dine As Men Serve In Capacity of Waiters

The Friendship Guild of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, Croydon, sponsored a mother-daughter banquet in the church basement, Nov. 23.

Hans Kohler, Richard Showers, Walter Rehm and Harry Shubert served as waiters and dishwashers.

Each guest had been asked to provide a baby picture of herself. These were numbered and passed around for identification. Miss Mary Brannigan made a perfect score — every picture correctly identified.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. Richard Showers, youngest mother; Mrs. Herman Pluma, youngest grandmother; Mrs. Herbert Leinhos, most recent mother; Mrs. Dorothea Brannigan, youngest at time of birth of first child; Mrs. Robert Findlay, most children; Mrs. Harry Shubert, travelled longest distance to attend.

All enjoyed the group singing. Serving on the committee to make the evening a success were Mrs. Conway Keeney, Mrs. Richard Showers and Mrs. John Remetta. The committee added a charming touch with the table decorations—a collection of dolls borrowed from Miss Mary Brannigan.

Mrs. Walter Rehm, Guild president, was toastmistress.

SEASONS MUST BE CHANGING

(By The Stroller)

When mid-November arrives at this latitude one usually put the garden shears and lawn mower away, but some folk have found it necessary to make a trip to the utility room and sharpen these tools.

On Sunday afternoon we saw two men mowing their lawns in Levittown — one along Levittown Parkway in Lakeside section, another in Magnolia Hill section.

The day previous we noted four roses on a bush not far from Bristol.

Roses aren't the only flowers in bloom for December 1st, for on a lawn near the "Dream Highway" in Middletown Township two dandelions have reared their golden heads.

Today's Quiet Moment

By Pastor Wendle Kee

Centuries of familiarity with the title "Lord" accorded to Jesus Christ in the New Testament have somewhat dulled our appreciation of its meaning. Sometimes, of course, it has no more significance other than a title of respect or reverence. On the other hand, Peter says in Acts 2:36, "God has made both Lord and Christ this Jesus whom you crucified." This is the New Testament use of the term "Lord." This term shows what we think of the Christ—what we think of the nature of His person and work. To this Christ, who has moved people throughout the centuries, who truly arose from the dead in glory, who as reality dominates the lives of individual as well as the church—this Christ bears the title "Lord."

The Jewish people called God by His essential name, Jahweh, and "Lord" is the New Testament counterpart of the Jewish name. The name is more significant when we realize the horror felt by the people brought up strictly within Old Testament ideas at the thought of giving to another the honor which was due to God alone. Thus, the term "Lord" is given only to the One who is "Lord"—Christ Himself.

Historical research, which has so greatly enriched our understanding of Holy Scripture and at the same time has so seriously undermined the faith of many in revelation, recognizes what has just been said but seeks to explain it thus: The Jesus who actually lived was a man unique, great and pious, yet a mere man. When He died, His disciples sought to save themselves from despair by giving Him the term "Lord" and proclaiming Him as Lord of all when actually He was only a man.

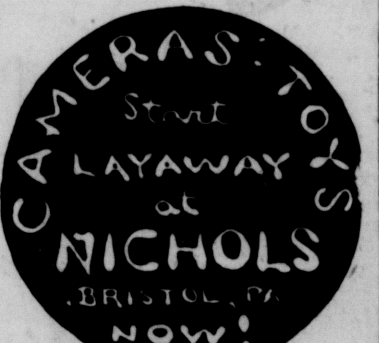

But is this true? If so, what of the resurrection? What of the validity of the New Testament? Jesus was Lord before His death. He is Lord today and ever will be Lord. His "Lordship" is greater than that of just mere respect and reverence; He is Lord because He is the Son of God and came to redeem the world. Truly Christ is the "Lord" in the true sense of the word.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Be ye doers of the word and not hearers only.—Jas. 1:22.

If we do not translate our beliefs into life our convictions must be shallow indeed.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright 1953
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 — For the good of the United States of America, President Eisenhower had best be well fortified with courage and determination during the Bermuda Conferences this coming week-end.

There is no doubt but that British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill and French Premier Pierre Laniel will throw a large number of "toughies" at him, most of which will boil down to appeasement of Soviet Russia in one form or another.

We have had more than our fill of such appeasement. It never has worked before; we have no reason to believe it would work to our advantage now, but much reason to fear it would work to our disadvantage.

Lewis, Jr. We want no more Yaltas or Potsdams, or facsimiles thereof, to haunt us in the future. Churchill and his British Government still want the Communist Chinese Government brought into the United Nations in place of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist regime. He still wants to meet with the new bosses of the Kremlin. Laniel wants to yield to internal French pressure to wind up the Indo-China War.

Those are just a few of the items that undoubtedly will be raised when the heads of the three biggest non-Communist nations sit down around the conference table in the beautiful Mid-Ocean Club starting Friday.

Thanks largely to recent statements of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Messrs. Churchill and Laniel probably are crossing the ocean with fond hopes that we are relenting in our opposition to admission of Red China to the U.N. Only time will tell whether the hopes are justified.

Churchill, reflecting the British attitude of trade-above-all-else, would like to see the Peking Government admitted to full membership in the community of nations, despite its open-and-shut record of aggression and force-of-arms expansionism. With their usual bow to expediency, the British would completely overlook this abysmal record and say, in effect, "They'll be good boys if we just bring them in."

Laniel may take the lead in presenting the Churchillian case for a Big Four meeting. Advices from Paris indicate that he and his French Government colleagues take the attitude that while all concerned realize no good would accrue from such a session, it nevertheless would have tremendous propaganda value, to show that the western powers were exploring all possible avenues and leaving no stone unturned in their efforts to bring peace to the world.

On this one, Mr. Eisenhower thus far has been particularly adamant in refusing to bow to expediency. He has forcefully expressed his opinion that no good could possibly come as long as the Russians maintain their truculence. Russia's recent rejection of western proposals for a conference on unification of Germany should have strengthened his determination in this regard.

Laniel's biggest pitch, however, will be in behalf of a pledge that American troops will be kept in Europe indefinitely, probably a minimum of six divisions.

This argument will be directly tied in with discussions of French ratification of the European Defense Community Agreement under which German troops would be brought into an International Defense Army, as well as with the Indo-China War.

Traditional French fear of German aggression has been the biggest factor delaying France's ratification of the EDC. A pledge of continued presence of American troops in Europe would be a major offset against these fears, and might well be the straw to swing the French Parliament in favor of the pact. Mr. Eisenhower, however, has opposed any such promise in the past, holding that we should not commit ourselves to indefinite holding of American troops in Europe, that Europe should develop her own defense forces.

The Indo-Chinese situation will be brought into the picture by way of the argument that because France now has such large forces tied up there, she cannot build up strong forces in Europe. We already have pumped hundreds of millions of dollars into supplying French forces in Indo-China, but Left-Wing elements in France have built up tremendous support for the idea of a compromise with the invading Communists which would enable France to pull most of her armed forces out of the area. This, of course, simply would be successful conclusion of another Red move of aggression.

The school bus committee of the New Hope-Solebury School District will discuss bus-driver requests for increased wages at a meeting Dec. 18.

Four bus drivers met with the committee last night to ask for a raise from $7.50 to $8 a day, increased pay for overtime and for servicing buses.

Donald Hedges, chairman of the bus committee, said he expected the matter will be settled easily and without dispute.

Today was "D-Day" for smashing the water-front jungle of crime and multi-million dollar rackets which has flourished for nearly 50 years in the port of New York. Close to 1,000 New York City policemen were assigned to the strife-torn waterfront area on an emergency basis to guard against the possible outbreak of war on the docks, or costly wild-cat work stoppages in defiance of the reform program.

Lt. Gen. George P. Hays, New York member of the waterfront commission, a bi-state agency created by New York and New Jersey, said "trouble spots" were the waterfront areas controlled by the notorious Mickey Powers gangsters in Manhattan, mobster forces on the Greenwich Village-Chelsea docks and the Anthony Anastasia mob in Brooklyn. Beginning today, the antiquated "shape-up" system of hiring is eliminated by law, ending what experts long have regarded as the primary cause of waterfront abuses.

The Herald-Tribune suspended publication last night leaving New York City without a major newspaper for the first time in its publishing history. Six other newspapers in the city were closed two days ago by AFL photoengravers. Although the Herald-Tribune was not a target of the wage strike, a spokesman for the paper said it would not let itself be used as a lever to force a strike settlement on harried competitors.

The Tribune's announcement quoted a strike leader as saying: "If the Herald Tribune is publishing and the Times is closed, it won't stay closed long."

A Quick Look: More than 500 employees of the Walker Brothers, manufacturers of electrical construction material at Spring Mill near Conshohocken, were away from their jobs yesterday in what was termed a "walkout" by the firm and a "lockout" by union leaders. Local A. B. 1088, Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, CIO is involved.

While profits of incorporated businesses increased by $12 billion 1953 through 1952, wages and salaries paid to employees increased by $142 billion in the same period, and the national income rose by $218 billion, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. . . . The National Labor Relations Board yesterday began studying charges by the Public Service Electric and Gas Company of New Jersey that the 1,800 striking gas appliance installers and maintenance men failed to bargain in good faith. . . . Alfred Rall of Newark, N. J., former bookkeeper for the State CIO in New Jersey is being held on $500 bail on charges of embezzling $500 in union funds last March.

KIWANIANS WILL SEE YULE MOVIE TONIGHT

A technicolor film, "The Spirit of Christmas," will be shown at tonight's meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Bucks County Lincoln Highway. The film will follow the club's dinner meeting at 6:45 p. m. at Flannery's, Pennel.

The Christmas party committee will meet following the general meeting.

The club's annual children's Christmas party will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 22. Committee members are Paul Sauerbry, Frank Sodano, James Ledgard, George Goodby and Samuel Leeper.

ELECTIONS SET

Union Fire Company, Cornwells Heights, will elect new officers at tonight's meeting. The group will meet at 8 p. m. at the fire station on State road.

Dusting Off The News

By CHARLES O. MOLZ

Though the summer furniture looks rather bleak on Jefferson avenue porches, there is always the chance that the wind will start up an old rocking chair and turn out a tune for the juke boxes.

When we read about the Future Teachers organizing at Pennsbury High we know that the price of good, red apples is never going to fall much below parity.

For some people it's hard to find a trailer lot, but for others in Bucks County who own trailer camps it seems not very hard to be fined.

There is no particular reason, we presume, for the reluctance of Levittowners to volunteer for duty as playground supervisors. On the other hand, some parents know what it is to keep junior in hand even at home.

Although Bristol has a new all-night eating spot, the midnight speeders along Radcliffe street probably will get their usual fare of non-interference from the police.

Lazy Louie says quite a bit of the charm went out of Bristol with the packet steamers, but on a late Saturday night there's no telling what some of the people he knows might see on the river.

Most everyone must have been impressed by reading about a fig tree being buried for the winter on Garden street. But what is to prevent the tree from turning over a new leaf? And who cares a fig?

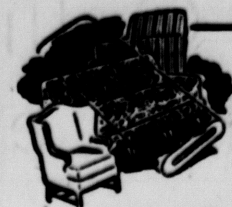

YOUNG GOP WILL HEAR TALK ON COUNTY FUTURE

Robert W. Pearson of Buckingham, resident planners of the Bucks County Planning Commission, will discuss the future of the county at 8 p. m. tomorrow in Otramsal Hall, Edgington.

Pearson will address the Bensalem Township Young Republicans Club. A question and answer period will follow the talk.

Fastest route to
out-of-town telephones

Out-of-town telephoning is a pleasure these days, it's so fast.

But to make certain you get the swiftest possible service, be sure to place your calls by number. Then the operator won't have to detour them through information in the distant city. And when you remember that millions of out-of-town calls are made each day, you'll see that calling by number can represent a very real contribution toward speeding the nation's Long Distance service.

Get down in your Personal Telephone Directory the numbers of out-of-town telephones you may have occasion to call, and you'll have them right at your finger tips. We'll be pleased to provide you with a free copy of this handy little time-saver. Just ask for one at our Business Office.

When you call by number, your calls go through faster—often twice as fast!

The Lower Bucks County Athletic Conference basketball chase settled into the groove last night when the entire membership climbed aboard for what promises to be a crackling 1953-54 campaign.

In a pair of interesting have-at-its Torano's Garage, a keenly balanced contingent, dumped Morrisville's Bridge Grille, 64-54; and Kaiser Metal, fired by jumping Jim Sottile, scuttled Rohm and Haas, 67-61, with a last heat rally. Both games were played before a sizeable throng in the Rohm and Haas Clubhouse, Bristol.

Sottile, pegged as one of the finest basketball specimen to grow up in these parts for a time, peppered away for 26 points in his

Richman Pin Team Gains on Federal Loop Pacesetters

Richman's Store advanced to a challenging second place in the Federal Bowling League of Bristol last week when it blanked the Bristol Engineers, 4-0, while first place Leedom's Mill was taking a 3-1 beating from Kaiser Metal Products No. 120.

Greco rolled a 532 triple, while S. Masalski had a 208 first game and a 518 triple, to lead the Richman team to within three and a half games of the loop lead. Kaiser got a 565 triple from Russo and a 536 three-game series from Nichols in its triumph over the Leedom team.

Socio of Canberra had the night's high single, a 224, while a teammate, Leone, rolled the best series, 570 pins.

LBCAC debut. The lad who sifted through Bristol High to West Virginia University and thence to a tryout in the basketball big leagues brought his storied jumpshot into play for 11 field goals, more than a third of his team's total in that department.

R. & H. Touch

But the Kaisers, defending playoff champs of the defunct Bristol Industrial circuit, needed everything Sottile gave them, plus some timely fourth period shooting by Andy Accardi and Howard Grant to topple an aroused, ball-hawking Rohm and Haas aggregation. Before tumbling to its second loss, the R&H flock led over most of the first three quarters, and were no worse off than a 56-all tie midway through the finale. The score was tied 15 times and the lead changed hands 11 times in the game.

With the count knotted at 47 as the two teams opened last period fire, Grant wrapped a follow shot and a dazzling hooker around Pat Carnavale's long set for R&H. Bob Lattanzi then hit with a "cripple" on Sottile's crisp handoff, but the losers rallied on Carnavale's second squat-and-push, a giftie by Toby Oriola and two more by Bill Butz to lead, 55-53.

Here Sottile pumped home a jumper, Grant, landed a layup, and Accardi hit twice around another Sottile ringer for a C-55 Kaiser advantage. It was just too much rapid fire accuracy for the R&H team, which was running out of steam. Tall Walt Zook's two late layups only made it a closer thing.

Zook finished with 17 points to lead his club, while bustling Bill Butz had 16, Oriola 12 and Carnavale 11. The losers used only six players. Behind Sottile came Lattanzi with 15, Accardi with 11 and Grant with ten stripes for the nattily-tongued Kaiser entry.

Easy for Torano's

The opener was less of a contest as four Garagemen hit double figures before Morrisville's late rally made it respectable. "Torano's was a 17-7 leader at the first period, held a 34-15 halftime advantage and was well in the van by 56-27 at the three-quarter mark.

Then the Garagemen, guilty of considerable early-game fouling, began dropping off like flies. Walt Holden and Chuck Brady went out on personals and Bob Braker and Frank Thropp were walking the chalk line with four charged against each of them.

Morrisville took advantage of a good thing as buzzsaw Jack Mock sliced through Torano's too-cautious defenses for six last period ringers and passed off to John Krysa for five more. The B-idge Grille team landed 27 points in the last quarter alone after getting no more than that in the first three rounds.

Point honors went to Krysa with 19 and Mock with 18 as the two accounted for 14 of their team's 21 field goals. John Paoone with 15 well distributed markers, Braker with 11 and Thropp and Don Singer with ten each were Torano hot-shots.

The league idles until Thursday night when Kaiser meets Levittown A. A. in a 7:15 opener to be followed by a Morrisville Franklin A. C. scramble.

NIFTY FOR KNICKS . . . By Alan Mayer

CARL WAS IN THE ARMY 2 YEARS BUT CAME BACK TO SET THE SCORING PACE FOR THE 4TH TIME LAST SEASON—WAS TOP MAN IN THE PLAYOFFS WHEN KNICKS CAME SO CLOSE—WAS RUNNER-UP IN ASSISTS, TOO.

Croydon Comets Cop Midget Loop Crown

The Croydon Comets are the kingpins of this area's midget football circles with room to spare. The Comets made it seven straight for the season in campaigning against 110-pound grid teams over the past week-end.

Major Teams Tap 13 Top Rookies In 1st Player Draft

ATLANTA — (INS) — Minor League clubs get their chance today to handpick baseball talent which may appear attractively priced as baseball's annual draft continues at the winter meeting in Atlanta. Thirteen players were selected by the majors in Monday's brief, opening session, with $132,500 changing hands in the process.

The Baltimore Orioles picked Vinicio Garcia, a slugging second baseman who had a .305 average last year with Shreveport in the Texas league.

As second choice, general manager Art Ehler chose Charles Diering, an outfielder with a .322 stick record with Minneapolis in 1953. He was drafted from the San Francisco Seals.

Pittsburgh Pirate boss Branch Rickey, Jr., plucked outfielder Gerald Lynch. He played with Norfolk last year, where he hit .333, batted in 113 runs and slammed 22 triples and 35 doubles.

Thompson Grabbed

The Chicago White Sox latched onto two left-handed hurlers—John Jocko Thompson, who won 10, lost four for Baltimore, and Al Sims, shipped to Chattanooga of the Southern after a 2-3 record with Washington.

Twenty-two-game winner Royce Lin's contract was picked up from Portland by the St. Louis Cardinals while the Chicago Cubs got outfielder Luis Marquez, a .292 hitter from Rochester.

Detroit snagged two prospects for a shot at major status—first baseman Charles Kress, who hit .317 for Rochester, and infielder Harry Bright, who had a .295 average with Memphis before he was hustled off to the Charleston club.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Baron Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats return to the college basketball wars pledged to win the national championship, but it will take more than a ten-foot pole to vault them into the throne.

What promises to be a hectic, topsy-turvy 1953-54 hoop campaign gets under way this week and the reinstatement of the Kentucky powerhouse after a year's suspension by the NCAA adds to the prospects for sharp-shooting fireworks.

BHS Cagers Gird For Title Defense

Around early-season drill camps in the Lower Bucks County League they are pointing the finger at Bristol High's defending scholastic kingpins. They say the Warriors and Coach Ben Watson are can't-miss favorites.

Watson, in coachy uneasiness, says it ain't so. He points to the five aces that dropped out of his deck with graduation, ignores two remaining stickouts and points right back at Pennsbury, Morrisville and Delhaas.

Championship "accusations" dispensed with, Watson will admit that his 1953-54 Bristolos should be a "good representative team" with more height than fans of the riverside village are apt to see in the ordinary year. The tobacco-munching coach has had his team at work for nearly three weeks, but not regularly.

"We have had to surrender the gym to the class play and other activities," he said. "It's definitely a handicap."

Watson has been working his way through an unwieldy lot of 80 ball-players in early drills and plans to carry 27 of them on his varsity-jayvee squad. This represents a departure from past years when only 20 were suited out, and may indicate the class of the clan this winter.

Returning first stringers are Russ Johnson, a six-foot-two bulky boy, and smooth, slender Bobby Loud. Both are accustomed to championship play under Watson, who has turned out junior high and high school titlists as a matter of course.

Other returning varsity squad-mates include Frank Manzo (5' 11"), Ed Burton (5' 9"), Dick Crosby (5' 10"), Ed Bartle (6' 1"), Johnny Asta (5' 6") and Don Sottile (6' 1").

Phil Attardo, a six-foot transfer student from Brooklyn's St. John's Prep and No. 2 scorer in the Bristol Industrial league last year, is another key prospect. So are jayvee graduates Tom Brescia at five-eleven and Marty Konel at six-one, along with seniors Bob McNeal, Les Tusziano and Brad Ardrey.

It will be from that group of 14 chaps that Watson will select his 12-man varsity squad. And time is running short. The Bristolos open on the road next Wednesday night when they take on Ewing High of the Trenton suburbs.

"Attitude," says Watson, "will have a lot to do with my choices. I get criticized for 1, sometimes, but I always look for attitude first on my clubs."

"I figure that if boys really want

Delhaas Basketball Hopefuls Turn Out 35 Strong at R&H

Coach Tom Elliott yesterday got his first look at the mob of Delhaas High School basketball candidates that will have to be pared to traveling size before Friday afternoon when the Tigers are scheduled to visit Pennsylvania School for the Deaf in Germantown.

About 35 hopefuls turned out for the opening drill at the Rohm and Haas Clubhouse, Bristol. There was little room left for work after the lot of them had strung out across the floor.

Elliott took a batch of 20 more likely operatives and shuffled the rest off to an assistant. Then he ran the candidates through lengthy shooting and running drills.

The early opener is going to prove a tough assignment for the affable Elliott, who likely will have to acquaint his team with fundamentals after their first three games. The Tigers go from the Friday opener to a Tuesday fray with Lower Moreland at home and a return bout with the same team a week later. Only then will Elliott have a three-week holiday break.

In the meantime the mentor has to try to condition his team and make some kind of an offensive threat of it at the same time.

of the class of the east, at least. The Dukes, who compiled a 21-8 record last season, will be spearheaded by All-America candidates Jim Tucker 6-5, Dick Ricketts 6-7 and Fletcher Johnson 6-5. Added to this tall and talented Green, a 6-3 operative.

Dudey Moore's team figures to get much mileage out of its experience, depth and speed.

Phog Allen's Kansans, who bowed by a point to Indiana in the NCAA finals, are choices to garner their third Big Seven title in a row and occupy a very prominent spot in the national picture once again. B. H. Born, the 6-9 lefty pivotman who took over Clyde Lovellette's role, is expected to carry the load for the Jayhawks, along with Allen Kelley and Harold Patterson.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

This Is a Question
Only You Can Answer

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD: I'm 14 and I have always admired pierced ears and would like to have mine done. But my parents discourage me — they say it will make me look too old and I should wait. Do you think I'm too young, so long as I have reasonable taste and don't let it go to my head?"

Piercing your ears is like having your nose renovated. They're both operations that can't be undone. And neither should be undertaken on a flight of whimsy.

At the moment you're entranced with the idea of wearing earrings. Unless you're the perfect type they might look pretty silly. Big girls with round moon faces determined-looking jaws or big ears are very careful how they don't earrings. So how about studying your own face, ears and hairline — then clipping on earrings just to see how they look? Take a look at the relative you most resemble, too, and try the on him or her. That's the way you may look some day.

Once your ears are pierced, you're stuck with them. After on if you decide earrings aren't becoming, you'll wish you hadn't bothered. While if you still entranced with them, you can screw or clip them on.

TWO HALVES MAKE ONE PRESENT

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD: The very nice boy I'm going steady with was born on December 20—just five days before Christmas. My girl friend said

I should give him two presents, one for his birthday, and one later. What do you think?"

If you feel obligated to come up with a present on both occasions, why not settle for something that comes in two parts: You could give one half for his birthday and the other for Christmas.

I'm thinking of scarf and gloves that match, for instance. Or library shears and letter opener in a case for his birthday and a matching desk pad for Christmas. Pen and Pencil sets can be taken apart and given separately. Belts and wallets can be bought to match. If he's a photo fiend, a box of flash bulbs would do for one present with an album or box file coming later.

But perhaps you could save the present-giving for Christmas and celebrate his birthday in some other way, even though his family has him dated for the 20th. You could have a small birthday party for him as part of the holiday festivities. Plan it for the Saturday night before. Ask another or two couples to come for buffet supper and spend the evening together or take them to the movies or a broadcast—something you can get tickets to in advance.

As a birthday stunt, ask your guests to bring 17 (or however many birthdays he's having) of anything—the whackier the better. He'll have a hilarious time opening 17 colored bottles to find the one that's really filled with Coke. Or testing 17 electric light bulbs to find the one that really works. He'll remember that birthday, all right!

Grooming for the Working Girl

THE WELL-DRESSED BUSINESS GIRL tops a gray flannel skirt with a blouse and jacket that have a gray and silver metallic stripe.

By HELEN FOLLETT

PERFECT grooming is a must for the girl who fares forth to the office. It is no credit to the boss to have an over-dressed or over-made-up beauty on tap. Uncle Sam's career girls are the best looking in the world. They're trim and tailored.

They should have a beauty kit handy for freshening make-up. It should not be used at the desk, however, but in the rest room.

A Five-Minute Job

Retouching can't be done hastily or casually if the effect is to be glamorous. Also putting powder over powder, rouge over rouge, forces atmospheric dust into the pores. This eventually means a flock of blackheads will appear. It is easy enough to use a cleansing oil, remove dirt with tissues, the start from scratch. It can all be done in five minutes, and done properly if one is before a large mirror instead of that little tabloid affair that one carries in one's purse.

Some bosses have peevish that clank-clank on bare floors may annoy them.

Spikes were never intended for casual wear, but should be saved for festive evening affairs.

Too much jewelry is a mistake; it means that a girl is over-dressed. The hairdo should never be so fussy that much time must be given to it in the morning before tearing out on the day's activities.

Fingernails should not be painted vivid red; a soft deep rose, more like the natural coloring, is less likely to attract the attention of the boss when he is giving dictation. Anyhow, the lighter tints are becoming more and more popular.

Your Birthday
by STELLA

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 1—Born today, your personal love of independence makes it impossible to follow another's lead. You want to initiate things and then do them in your own way and in your own sweet time! You cannot be pushed, although you may be influenced in a given direction by someone you love and admire. You dislike receiving or giving advice but suggestions, made in a casual off-hand manner, often have a deep influence upon your actions, although you may imagine that you actually originated the idea!

You have the ability to get along with all kinds of people as well as the gift of natural leadership. If your aims are kept high, you may become an important influence upon your own life and times. Some idea which you promulgate may change the entire trend of the age in which you live. Constructive by nature, you like to build solidly, from the ground up. A firm foundation, you believe, is the basis for something good. And how right you are!

You are loving and affectionate by nature and will be happiest if you wed at an early age and have your own family growing up around you. Material success is only important to you if it brings added joy and happiness to all those you love. You have a gift for making money but you are not so clever at keeping it. You are much too inclined to be extravagant where your family is concerned. You want them to have everything of the best.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, December 2
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Stick very closely to routine matters if you want the best possible results. Avoid experiments.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Business and financial matters will call for your close attention today. You can make a profit.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—If you are the hard-working half of a partnership, be sure that you do not neglect your duties now.
PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—Be sure that you have not forgotten some important detail today. Pay attention to your job!

Life of Wanderers Ended, Pair Find a Happy Harbor

By Barbara A. Zanner

Dorothy Balone spent almost four of the four and a half years of marriage following her Navy husband, Nicholas, from base to base. At last in their own home at 12 Appletree drive, Levittown, she can truly appreciate civilian life.

Nick received his honorable discharge in April of this year. He was employed as a millwright helper at Fairless in May. With a second child expected in February, the Balones' one-bedroom unit in North East Village, on the Philadelphia line, was too cramped even then. There just was no more room. Nick also felt he would like to live closer to his work.

When Dot and Nick first viewed the Levittown Ranchers in June, they had solved their problems. They said goodbye, they hoped forever, to temporary living quarters when they moved into their own home on Oct. 31.

Married in 1949

Dorothy is from Boston, Mass., Nick from Philadelphia. They met when Dorothy's cousin was serving on the carrier Philippine Sea with Nick. Five months before their meeting, Nick had admired Dot's picture. They corresponded until the time of their meeting in September, 1948. Though they could not see each other often, because Nick was on duty most of the time, they did become engaged in December of that year. The wedding date was July 3, 1949.

Nick had joined the Navy right after his high school graduation in 1946. He had served in the Mediterranean on the Philippine Sea and was on the same ship when he discovered Dot's existence. The Boston Navy Yard was the convenient port for their romance, but just after their marriage Nick and his ship went to Rhode Island. Dorothy was right behind and their 3-room house at the base was the young couple's first home.

Three Battle Stars

While Nick was in Korean waters, their daughter, Lauren, was born Oct. 30, 1950, at the Naval Hospital in Coronado, Calif. "I had the baby all by myself," Dot related rather proudly, and then went on to say, "Nick didn't get to see the baby until she was five months old."

Nick returned from Korea with three battle stars in April, 1951. When the Philippine Sea returned to California, Nick rejoined his expanded family. Longing for home, he applied for transfer to the East Coast and what he hoped would be a more stationary life. He'd been shuttling back and forth from the San Diego and San Francisco Naval Bases, getting only glimpses of Dorothy and the baby on occasional week-ends.

When the transfer did come through in July, 1951, he reported to the carrier, Gilbert Islands, in Philadelphia. It was only more of the same. This time his ship plied between there and Rhode Island. When Nick's discharge came through the following April, it was the passport to a new way of life.

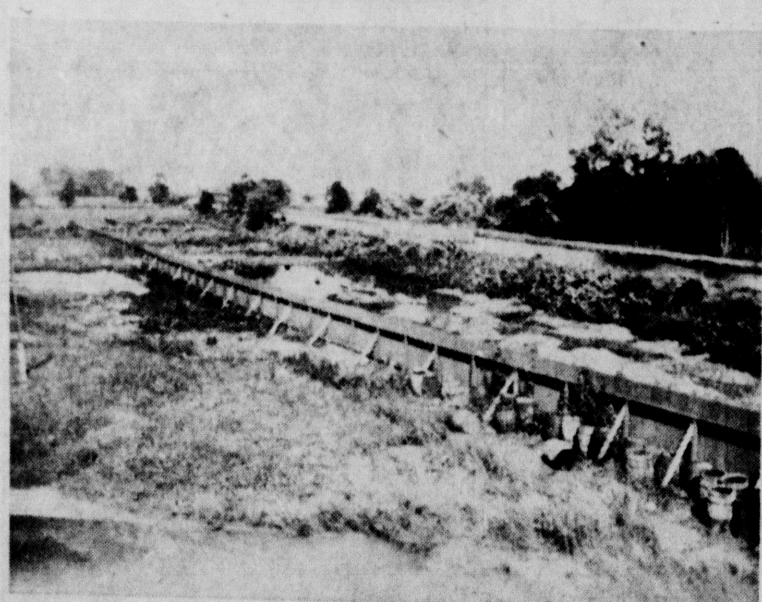

The interior of the Balone home is as gracious as the welcome mat at the door. Cheery yellow curtains outline the kitchen windows and green damask enhances the living room picture window. A sectional love seat, divided by a blonde mahogany step table, is upholstered in the same fabric as the draperies. Lending an attractive contrast to the green is a maroon upholstered platform rocker as well as other blonde mahogany pieces.

RESCUE SQUADS LIST ONLY 2 CASES FOR DAY

Area rescue squads had an easy time yesterday with only two transportation cases reported.

The Bucks County Rescue Squad took William Churchley of New Rodgers road, West Bristol, to the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia. Trevoise Heights Rescue Squadmen took Angelo Bizzell of 12018 Bustleton avenue, Somerton, to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia.

THAT'S What I Want for Christmas!

A CHRISTMAS TREE is what Cheryl McCready, four years old, of 334 Jackson street, Bristol, wants for Christmas. She's telling Santa Claus all about it at Nichols Camera and Kiddieland on Mill street, Bristol. But that's not all she wants: candy, a milk car, a horse, drums, blocks, a dart board and a watch are also on her list of necessities.

2nd Meeting Mapped To Back Police Radio

The Kiwanis Club of Bucks County Lincoln Highway and the Police Chiefs Association have sent invitations to all service and civic clubs in the area, inviting them to attend Central Police Radio Night.

The meeting, which will be the second public meeting on the proposed radio system, will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 15, at Flannery's, Pennel.

The first part of the meeting will be dinner at 6:45 p. m. Municipal officials and club members are invited to attend. Charge will be $2 each.

Explain Radio System

At 7:45 p. m. there will be a public meeting, with an explanation by one speaker, who has not yet been named, of the radio system. There will be a question period following the explanation.

At 8:45 p. m. there will be a closed session, with municipal officials only, for discussion of the police radio.

In the invitation, the association and the Kiwanis Club mention four ways in which service and civic groups can help "formulate a definite plan to bring central police radio to all or most of Lower Bucks County, to fill a definite need in the public safety."

Program Outlined

They suggest the clubs publicize the Dec. 15 meeting in their communities and send representatives to the meeting; endorse the suggestion with a formal motion; contact municipal officials and urge them to attend and invite municipal officers to the dinner-meeting.

John A. A. Crowley is chairman of the Kiwanis Club's committee on the central police radio. Howard C. Shook, chief of Middletown Township Police and president of the Bucks County Police Chiefs Association, represents the association.

Suit By Trooper Against Wheatley Is Set For Dec. 8

DOYLESTOWN—Among some 50 civil court cases listed for December in Common Pleas Court is a damage suit in which State Policeman George Caldarelli is suing Thomas M. Wheatley, Sr., 51, Oxford Valley. The suit is for punitive damages, loss of income from inability to work as a trooper, pain and suffering, medical expenses and permanent injuries.

The trial, according to Deputy Prothonotary William Carlin, Jr., is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 8.

Shot in Leg and Abdomen

The 28-year-old State Policeman, a former Marine, was shot in the abdomen and leg May 30 by Wheatley following an altercation with Wheatley's son at the scene of a bus-car accident in Middletown township, near Langhorne.

A September Quarter Sessions Court criminal jury convicted the father, Wheatley, on three counts in connection with the shooting of State Policeman Caldarelli and Walter J. Leonhauser, 17, a youth who was standing nearby Caldarelli and Wheatley during the fray.

Pleaded Guilty

Wheatley, Jr., was sentenced by Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite to serve from two to 24 months for drunken driving and assault and battery. He pleaded guilty to the two charges.

The father's case is pending the outcome of an argument for a new trial. The case will be argued at the December term of Argument Court beginning on Monday, Dec. 28.

Caldarelli, the plaintiff in the civil court action, attended criminal court twice last week, once in connection with his own case against the younger Wheatley and again in connection with the prosecution of a drunken driver.

Pair Acquitted, Then Criticized In Teeners' Case

Judge Tells Them Not To Pick Up Minors In Autos

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 1 — President Judge Hiram H. Keller directed a verdict of not guilty in favor of two Philadelphia men being tried on a charge of contributing to delinquency of a child and severely reprimanded them for keeping close company with teenagers and "picking them up" in their cars.

Tried on the charge of contributing delinquency were Charles Hediger, 3229 N. Fairhill street, and Frederick W. Wolfe, 710 W. Allegheny avenue.

3 Minors In Car

Hediger and Wolfe were arrested Dec. 29, 1952, by Bristol Township Police in connection with having three minors, two girls and a boy, ranging in age from 15 to 17 years old in their car.

Judge Keller, who ordered the costs of prosecution placed on the county, said to one of the defendants, who admitted he was 31 years old, "You are too old to run around with 15 and 16-year-old boys and girls."

"Even though nothing improper happened or took place you should not be seen in the company of teenagers but pick out men and women your own age."

'Should Have Known Better'

"The two girls should have known better than to get into a car with two strange men and go for a ride but both of you should have exercised better and more mature judgment in the first place," the Court said.

The jury was composed of Foreman Alfred A. Rossi, Argus; George Shoemaker, Langhorne, RD 3; Harry J. Hoy, Davisville; Levi C. Martin, Quakertown, RD 3; Charles H. Fossbender, Quakertown, RD 2; Angelo Roberto, Bristol; Adea Baker, Bristol, RD; Pomptlo L. Piazza, Bristol, RD; John Makl, Kintnersville, RD; Albert Pagliaro, Riegelsville, RD; Richard Masel, Sellersville, and Howard R. Kooker, Pennsburg, RD.

Feasterville Hotel Will Honor Blind At Christmas Party

The doors of the Buck Hotel, at Feasterville, will be open wide on Sunday, Dec. 27, when the fifth annual Christmas dinner party is scheduled for the blind of Bucks county. On that day only the blind guests of honor, together with an escort for each, will be granted privileges of the hotel. And what privileges—turkey dinner with all the fixings, music, gifts galore and general festivities!

The hosts at this gala event each year are the proprietor of the Bucks, John Gonzales, and members of the Lions Club of Somerton. Gonzales will provide all the food and beverages, the Lions being responsible for gifts and entertainment.

Dinner is set for 5:30, but an hour in advance of that the doors will swing open for admission of the guests, who will drive from all parts of Bucks county.

The general supervision is in the hands of Pennsylvania Association for the blind, A. William Lohler, executive director of the Bucks County branch, is also a member of Somerton Lions Club.

According to Lohler, "We have a complete case load listing of all blind in Bucks county. There are about 65 in all. This group with their escorts, and the Lions Club membership will make up a party of approximately 150."

Bensalem History Is Heavily Studied With Bright Names

By Elmer B. Snyder

I'm what you might call an amateur historian: history's my hobby. And here are some items about Bensalem township that I've come across in my readings.

"Bensalem" is a Hebrew word, meaning "Son of Peace," or "House of Order and Consolation." The township was named in 1692, and was laid out by Surveyor-General, Capt. Thomas Holme. The towns in Bensalem are Andalusia, Cornwells Heights, Eddington, Bridgewater, Torresdale Manor, Echo Beach, Newport Heights and a part of Trevoise. It's bounded by the Delaware River, Poquessing Creek, Neshaminy Creek, and includes some of Trevoise.

One of the most interesting landmarks in Bensalem township is the Red Lion Hotel in Andalusia. Located at City Line and Bristol Pike, this hotel was built in 1774 and was well-known when George III was King of England. Many notables stopped at the hotel, and the Revolutionary Army once encamped there.

In the "Life and Works of John Adams," the author tells how the delegates from Massachusetts to the First Continental Congress dined at the Red Lion Inn on Aug. 29, 1774. The delegates included such famous men as Samuel Adams, John Adams and Robert Treat Paine. John Adams mentions stopping there again on Dec. 9, 1775, and Oct. 13 1776. Washington and Lafayette are known to have stayed there also.

Bake House on Estate

The bake house for Washington's Army was on an estate on State road below Torresdale, and the ovens are still on the property today. Benjamin Rush, one of the signers of the Constitution, and a prominent leader in the colonies, lived, at one time, on Red Lion Road. The Rush family is buried on the estate.

The many changes, in boundaries, roads and other sites is a part of the history of the area. The first railroad to come this way was the Trenton and Philadelphia Railway, a one track affair that ran as far as Andalusia Station. Andalusia Station was located at Andalusia road, known later as Gravel Pike, and now known as Byberry avenue. Passengers really had to travel to Philadelphia. They took the train to Andalusia Station, got off there, walked down Andalusia Wharf road to Andalusia Wharf, and there boarded a boat bound for Philadelphia.

First House

The first house on State road was built by Franklin C. Snyder, between Station avenue and Andalusia Wharf road. Station avenue was, known, until a few years ago, by the picturesque name of "Herring Bone Lane," named from the Shad Fisheries located on the Delaware River.

Prominent names of early settlers include the Vandegrifts, Vansants and Vanhorns from Long Island. In 1679, four Vandergrift brothers, Nicholas, Leonard, Johannes and Frederick purchased land in Bensalem on the Neshaminy, now known as Cornwells Heights. They built a tavern on Bristol Pike, which they called the Half Way House—half way between Trenton and Philadelphia. The place was a popular stop for stage coaches to change horses.

One of the outstanding humanitarian activities in the early days of the township, was the establishment of a school for Indian and Negro children by Catherine Drexel. Mrs. Drexel also founded the Holy Ghost Missionary, on Bristol Pike.

Scene of Battles

Another historic landmark in the area is Dunks Ferry. This site was the scene of many battles during the Revolutionary War and Washington tried futilely to protect the Ferry from the British Navy. But the British sailed up the Delaware, shelled the Ferry, and it capitulated to them.

In one of the houses on Dunks Ferry at this time was a baby, who was soundly sleeping when the British attacked. One of the shells fired by the British went right over his head, but the baby was neither awakened or scratched. A member of the Williamson family, the boy later founded the Williamson Trade School, located in Delaware County.

Lower Bucks County has always been a favorite theme for historians. Four good reference books on the area, if you wish to learn more of the history and its many changes, are "General Davis' Book on Bucks County," "Life and Works of John Adams," "Up the Delaware River," and "Up the Bristol Pike."

Carol Is Violinist At Trenton Concert

Norman Carol, brilliant young violinist, will be guest soloist tomorrow night when the 32nd season of the Trenton Symphony Orchestra begins. The concert will be at the War Memorial Building, Trenton.

Carol will play the Tchaikowsky Concerto in D Major. With Guglielmo Sabatini conducting, the orchestra will perform Santoliquido's Symphony No. 1 in F Major as its principal work. It will also play a Bach Fugue in G Minor and Tchaikowsky's Marche Slave.

Tickets for the concert are available at the Symphony office at 234 East State street, Trenton.

Spies Believed To Have Stolen Secret AF Prints

Senators To Probe Infiltration Into New York Plants

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (INS) — Secret papers covering radar and torpedo research for the Air Force, the Army and the Navy reportedly have disappeared from key defense plants in upstate New York.

Information to this effect was given to investigators for the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee. The group, headed by Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R), Wisconsin, for three weeks has been secretly probing alleged Communist infiltration in eight factories and also at the nerve center of Air Force radar research at Griffis Air Force Base, Rome, N. Y.

Formal Hearings

The Senate committee is expected to open formal hearings in Syracuse or Rome Wednesday at which a former FBI undercover agent in the Communist underground, one-time members of Red cells and security officials will testify.

Witnesses in the preliminary investigations gave this information: A half dozen documents relating to secret radar research are missing from the General Electric plant in Syracuse. A former Communist told of attending party meetings with 15 alleged Reds he said still work at the main electronics plant of G. E.

'Have Our Friends'

Another Red who quit the party detailed secret meetings he claimed he attended with ten "other Communists" in the Schenectady plant of G. E. He quoted a "Communist party official" as bragging that "we have our friends" in the Knolls laboratories. Knolls is operated by G. E. for the Atomic Energy Commission and is now engaged in constructing the first atomic engine.

The committee also received testimony that torpedo documents for a Navy project are missing from the G. E. plant at Schenectady, which also is engaged in guided missile research. An FBI undercover agent said he attended Communist sessions with 14 workers and union officials at the General Cable Corp. plant in Rome. This factory was the scene of a 171-day strike last year.

Testimony was received that long-time friends and former associates of Julius Rosenberg allegedly still hold key jobs at the air developments center at Griffis.

People Places and Things

By CAROL GABLE

A Man's World!

Die-hard believers in the myth of male superiority were dealt another blow last month when Mary Manzo (Mrs. Anthony Manzo), 331 Washington street, Bristol, was appointed the first female production foreman in the history of Kaiser Metal Products. Mrs. Manzo is a former instructor in KMP's training program.

Mrs. Manzo had worked at the plant for five years during World War II, and then returned a year ago as an assembly mechanic. Because of the adroitness she showed, she was made an instructor in February, 1953, and then forelady in November. It was her ability both as a worker and a leader that paid off in the tradition-breaking promotion.

The new "forelady" has 16 men and women production workers under her. The mother of two children, her hobbies are dancing and bowling; she's good enough at the latter, in fact, to be in the Women's Major Bowling League in Bristol. And her appointment sure "bowl-ed" most people over!

Idle Observations While Listening to a Very Loud Juke Box: Last week, we are happy to report, we discovered a very good juke box, one of the best — it was broken.

How to make Friends: Bristol Township Policeman Neil Hepler was in a quandary recently: He'd taken a picture of an automobile accident, and he needed it developed in a hurry. But he couldn't find anyone available to make him the prints. Then, eureka! He remembered that recently he had given a traffic ticket to a man who, it had turned out, knew a great deal about photography. Hepler had his "number," and the man was happy to oblige.

We sort of got a kick out of this, thinking of all the destructive things we might be tempted to do to the film, in revenge. But Hepler told us quite seriously that a great many people to whom the police give traffic tickets not only remain good friends with the police, but more often than not, they "become better drivers."

The Reason Why: The reason the Newtown Bank and Trust Company's money exhibit included no notes above the denomination of $100, although notes are issued in $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 denominations, — was that insurance premiums and transportation charges on the exhibit would be too costly!

Here 'n There: Morrisville PTA has a record-breaking membership this year of 542 parents and teachers. . . . Recently we asked a psychiatrist what would happen if we could bring up wholly happy, completely unfrustrated children — and make no blunders while doing it. "We don't know," he replied. "Nobody's ever done it."

The Maple Shade-West Bristol Community Center is looking for ground to purchase so that it can build a hoped-for Community Center . . . We can hardly see to type this, but we are told that more than 60 per cent of all American adults wear eye-glasses.

$1,200 ALREADY PLEDGED

Levittown Women's Club to Sponsor Dance for Hospital Completion Fund

The Levittown Women's club will sponsor a dance to raise money for the Lower Bucks County Hospital Completion Fund on Saturday, Dec. 12. The dance will be in the ballroom of the Hotel Hildebraecht, in Trenton.

According to Mrs. Fred Secker, chairman of the dance, dancing will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m., and dress is optional. Tickets for the dance, which is open to the public, are $3 per couple.

Mrs. Secker explained that the club has pledged the sum of $1,200 to the hospital fund. "We managed to raise $400 so far, and we hope that the dance will help us make the pledge," she said. In an effort to pay for dance expenses, programs, with paid advertisements, will be distributed at the dance.

Mrs. Rowland Springer, 68 Friendly lane, Levittown, who may be reached at WI 6-0636, is now taking reservations for tables at the hotel. There is no charge for this service.

Members of the dance committee are Mrs. Benjamin Hamilton, Mrs. Hilton Francis, Mrs. Richard Rahn, Mrs. Gene Cipolloni, Mrs. Scott Esche, Mrs. Marianne Hamilton, Mrs. Betty Musselman, Mrs. Robert Kachel, Mrs. Robert Burton, Mrs. William Faragher, Mrs. Robert Clark, Mrs. Allen Marcus, Mrs. Walter Repella and Mrs. Springer.
